David Drebin

David Drebin is one of the greatest photographers in the world. At the end of the 1990s, David Drebin began to make a name for himself as an internationally successful fashion and advertising photographer only shortly after concluding his studies at the Parsons School of Design in New York City in 1996. His exclusive circle of clients includes internationally renowned companies like Davidoff, Mercedes, MTV, Nike and Sony. Drebin's works have been published in magazines like Elle, GQ, Marie Claire, New York Times, Rolling Stone, Travel and Leisure and Vanity Fair. David Drebin's work plays with the American dream, with all
