

Scarlett Chou

Scarlett Chou was born in Taiwan, and currently resides in Southern California of the United States, in the city of Irvine.

Often compared to the master of Art Deco, Erté, Scarlett is able to transcend impressions from the century s old paintbrush. And, reminiscent of Klimt, she creates computer-generated works that are uniquely influenced by her Chinese heritage. Her art is steeped in traditional Eastern culture and has an infusion of modern and Western motifs, reflecting of her beliefs, emotions and experiences.

My mother believes that creativity is the spirit of an art. So, she encouraged me to use my own methods to express my creativity and imagination. The profound and mysterious cultures of the Orient have had a tremendous impact on me since my youth. My inspiration comes from the Asian culture, nature and beautiful images in my mind of swaying flower petals and fluttering angels that have their own story and music.

To me, the entire computer is a paintbrush with unlimited possibilities that adds to my ability to create. I can work with very fine details and different layers of color schemes.

Scarlett s work has appeared in books, magazines, selected galleries, luxury cruises and fine arts auctions. A former Miss University representing Taiwan, Scarlett has also worked as a news reporter and conducted interviews with prominent celebrities and political figures. All of these experiences have shaped and influenced her career in art.
