

Constance Lael

For Constance Lael, there is no greater joy than creating something of beauty. Upon observation, an emotion is touched deep within the soul that enables us to cherish life in a more intricately beautiful way. Through her art, Lael hopes to convey the splendor of simple everyday things such as the sparkle in a child's eye and the love of one another.

Lael grew up in the small town of Troutman, North Carolina. She was raised with a strong sense of church and community. She feels God has given her the ability to see with vision and the talent, perseverance and skill to communicate that beauty on paper. Today Lael resides with her two children in Statesville, North Carolina.

She attributes her parents for encouraging her artistic ability. My mother told me I always had a pencil or crayon in my hand as far back as she could remember. Lael's mother continued to encourage her with private art lessons throughout her childhood. After high school, Lael continued to study art in Statesville, North Carolina at Mitchell College and received a Bachelor's in Fine Art from Queens College.

Lael draws her inspiration from the natural beauty of the world. For example, flowers are one of Lael's favorite subjects because of their extraordinary beauty and variety. Lael uses colored pencil in combination with mixed media to achieve the detail and control necessary for her detailed flowers.
