About Michael Pauker

Michael Pauker completed his Bachelor of the Fine Arts degree from SUNY College at Purchase in New York in 1988 and was quickly awarded the City of Oakland Artist Fellowship in Painting. The following year Pauker earned his Master of the Fine Arts degree at Mills College in Oakland before embarking on his artistic career. Over the years since then, Pauker has shown his work in dozens of group and solo exhibitions across the United States and in Japan and Costa Rica.

Serigraph on Paper

Screen printing or Serigraphy is a printing technique that uses a woven mesh to support an ink blocking stencil. The attached stencil forms open areas of mesh that transfer ink as a sharp-edged image onto a substrate. A roller or squeegee is moved across the screen stencil forcing or pumping ink past the threads of the woven mesh in the open areas.

Credit is generally given to the artist Andy Warhol for popularizing screen printing identified as serigraphy, in the United States. Warhol is particularly identified with his 1962 depiction of actress Marilyn Monroe screen printed in garish colors.
