About Harold Silverman

Harold Silverman was born and raised in the borough of Brooklyn in New York City. He is a graduate of the Fashion Institute of Technology, and enjoyed a career in the manufacturing of ladies sportswear. His particular skills were in design, product development, and pattern making.

In 1970 photography became the sanity within the pressures of the business world and the darkroom became the catalyst to vent a lifelong artistic effort. Several major exhibits developed during this timeframe and a book of this effort has always been on the drawing boards.

In 1997 he was introduced to the world of "Photoshop" and his photography hasn't been the same since. Having excellent computer skills made the learning curve much shorter than normal and with the proper formal training he began to bring to life images that combine the passion for photography and the world of "Art."

Fine Art Print

Fine art prints are printed using sophisticated printing techniques such as lithography, serigraphy, or giclee prints. They are printed on thick archival quality paper or canvas with inks that last for decades. Besides the exquisite quality of a fine art print, limited edition prints are valuable and may appreciate in value depending on certain factors.
