About Sevitt Francis

Francis was born in Dublin, Ireland and moved to Israel in 1959. She studied at the Avni Institute in Tel Aviv in the seventies and the school for art teachers in Ramat-HaSharon.

Francis' works reflect a time when the world moved at a slower pace and people were much more kind and gentle. Her subjects are predominantly women, and show evidence of Renaissance and Moorish influences.

Each piece conveys intricate details, beautiful colors and each is magical. Francis' work has been featured throughout Israel, Europe, and North America.

Serigraph on Paper

Screen printing or Serigraphy is a printing technique that uses a woven mesh to support an ink blocking stencil. The attached stencil forms open areas of mesh that transfer ink as a sharp-edged image onto a substrate. A roller or squeegee is moved across the screen stencil forcing or pumping ink past the threads of the woven mesh in the open areas.

Credit is generally given to the artist Andy Warhol for popularizing screen printing identified as serigraphy, in the United States. Warhol is particularly identified with his 1962 depiction of actress Marilyn Monroe screen printed in garish colors.
